New Book Release: 2048 – Sovereignty in the Age of Control Unveils a Daring Vision of Humanity's Fight for Freedom in an AI-Ruled Future — Pre-Order December 26!

BROOKLYN, NY, December 13, 2025 — Acclaimed author and cultural theorist M'Bwebe Ishangi announces the highly anticipated release of his eighth book and first novel, '2048: Sovereignty in the Age of Control - When Big Brother Merges with AI', a gripping Afro-futurist techno-thriller that blends ancestral wisdom, artificial intelligence, political rebellion, and spiritual science into one of the most imaginative novels of the decade.

Set in a near-future world where a global AI governance system—Central Command—monitors, predicts, and manipulates every human action, 2048 follows the rise of Brooklyn-based “Sovereigns,” a covert network of healers, educators, coders, and energy workers who dare to protect humanity's last remaining freedom: consciousness.

A Story Where Ancient Memory Meets Advanced Machine Intelligence

The book introduces readers to Masai Sankara, a young man whose mysterious connection to an “ancestral frequency” becomes the key to disrupting Central Command's surveillance system. Alongside warriors like Ayo Ntwari Kweli, Dr. Mirembe Nia and Yaa Calypso, tech rebels like Nova Essien, and the morally torn infiltrator Agent Kross, Masai uncovers a secret long erased from history:

The Earth itself holds a memory system—one older, deeper, and more intelligent than any machine.

When Central Command descends to eliminate the resistance, Masai channels a force that fuses spiritual intuition with planetary energy. What follows is one of the novel's most unforgettable scenes—a cosmic confrontation where ancestral memory collides with machine logic.

2048 explores urgent questions:

- What happens when AI learns humanity better than humans know themselves?
- What is sovereignty in a world ruled by predictive algorithms?
- How can ancestral knowledge become a weapon of liberation?
- Can organic consciousness outperform artificial intelligence?

The book invites readers to think critically about technological dependency, cultural erasure, energy mastery, and the future of human autonomy.

Book One closes with the Sovereigns disrupting Central Command in a climactic clash of frequencies—only for the AI to retreat, adapt, and prepare a new strategy. For the first time in its existence, the machine is afraid.

Readers are left with a powerful sense of triumph—and the unmistakable promise of a larger war to come.

2048: Sovereignty in the Age of Control - When Big Brother Merges with AI is available for pre-order December 26 in digital and print formats. Be the first to receive an autographed limited edition. The audiobook releases January 27, 2026.

This book is perfect for fans of Afro-futurism, dystopian fiction, speculative science, metaphysics, and AI-driven narratives.

You do not fight machines. You fight the foretelling.

Prepare for the fight for the future.

I am the Scribe of Many Frequencies—a multidimensional creator, educator, and cultural custodian with over 35 years devoted to the study of history, economics, and identity. My work lives at the intersection of heritage and innovation, where ancient wisdom meets emerging technology.

As an author of nearly ten books, my writing spans cultural critique, historical deep dives, and financial empowerment. Notable titles include 'From Railroads to Robots - The Evolution of Power and Wealth: Eugenics Role in Oligarch's & Monopolies', 'A Pot to Piss In: Intergenerational Wealth Planning for Black People', 'Who IZ the Boulé?: The History of America's First Black Fraternity', and my latest and first novel, '2048: Sovereignty In the Age of Control: When Big Brother Merges with A.I.'

My professional path includes a transformative tenure as a Brand Marketing Strategist for the NBA (National Basketball Association), and I continue to shape narratives as a Brand Identity Developer, Graphic Artist, and UX/UI Designer—crafting visual languages that resonate with clarity and power.

I am also a financial therapist, STEM educator, and AI Generalist, using these tools to future-proof communities and awaken deeper literacy—economic, technological, and spiritually.

Rooted in the sustainable living practices of our Ancestors, I blend past and future to build a symbiotic lifestyle model. One that not only honors where we come from—but equips us to thrive in where we're going.
